

Linux Users Group @ UTD

Interested in Cloud Computing? Want to learn how to deploy your own virtual server or host your data in the cloud?

The Linux Users Group @ UTD is hosting a technical introduction to Amazon Web Services to demonstrate its many services and abilities.

Bring a laptop and join us on this interactive lecture! We will walk users through setting up a trial account* on AWS, and explain in detail some cool things they can do with it.

This event is FREE and open to all UTD students!

To participate in this optional step, you will need a credit-card associated with your Amazon account.
You will not be charged as long as you stay in the free tier's monthly allotment.*
